

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information recording apparatus according to one aspect of this invention has an input unit configured to input data, a detection unit configured to detect audio attribute information from input data
5 input by the input unit, and a recording unit configured to record audio information contained in the input data and the audio attribute information in a predetermined format.